CORNELL UNIVERSITY LIBRARY REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

1938-39

To the President of the University:

SIR: I have the honor to submit the report of the Librarian of the University Library for the year ended June 30, 1939.

The most significant development of the year in the Cornell University Library was the inauguration of a new University Library Council. By action of the Board of Trustees on May 11, 1938 a new statute and new rules were adopted in accordance with which the old Library Council of four Faculty members, one Trustee member, the President, the Provost, and the University Librarian (eight members in all) was superseded by a somewhat larger council. The new body includes the President, one Trustee, the Librarian as Executive Secretary, and seven Faculty members. In the old Council the four Faculty members were elected by the University Faculty, two each to represent the sciences and the humanities. In the new Council the seven Faculty members are appointed by the Trustees upon nomination by the President and are to be selected, according to the statute, "to represent the library interests of the University as a whole, due regard being paid to the interests of science and letters, and to those of the technical and professional colleges and schools of the University."

The new Council held its first meeting on October 28, 1938, and entered at once upon a consideration of the present situation of the University's various book collections and the discussion of plans which might lead to greater usefulness and improved development on the entire Campus. To implement the work of the Council during the first year a special Library Council Assistant was appointed for one year. The new Assistant is Mr. William H. Hyde, a graduate of Oberlin College (B.A. 1925) and of the Columbia University School of Library Service (M.S. 1938), who had seen service in the library of the University Club in New York and in the Library of the College of the City of New York.

Under instructions of the Council careful surveys were made of the working of the present allotment scheme in force in the University Library, and the sums invested in all the various classes of books were tabulated by subjects or departments. A similar survey followed, tabulating the resources and subject developments in the college and departmental libraries outside the central library building. Finally inquiries were made to ascertain the extent to which books not fully catalogued existed in libraries outside the central building, and the first steps were taken toward organizing a systematic entry of all the University's book holdings in a Union Catalogue in the central building.

On the morning of Friday, March 17, 1939 the Library suffered from a flood in the new Southwest stack, caused by a freakish accident. During a period when the water in the building had been shut off while a new connection was made with the main pipe in the street, some unknown person turned on a faucet and left it on when no water flowed. When the flow was restored, a stopped drain caused the water to overflow during the night. It dripped through three decks and affected some three hundred books. Many were only slightly dampened and were returned to the shelves after they had been dried out. About one hundred needed repairs or rebinding. No books were totally ruined, although quite a few were permanently and irremediably stained by water. The Library's Petrarch and Wordsworth Collections were in the path of the flood, but they did not suffer greatly, since most of the rare and valuable items are kept in the Library's steel vault.

It is to be hoped that if another new wing is ever added to the present library building, the danger of damage by water will be as carefully guarded against as the danger of fire. Foresight and careful planning for library growth bring the problem of a new wing into the picture. Unless the University is fortunate enough to be provided with an entirely new and modern library building, a new wing will become practically necessary within a reasonable time. The crowded quarters of the Accessions, Classification, and Catalogue staff preclude all possibility of really efficient staff work and normal staff expansion. And recent book accessions are already beginning to revive the book-space problems which some years ago harassed the administration and the users of the Library alike.

STAFF

Miss Frances L. Macoughtry, a cataloguer, resigned in September, 1938 and was replaced by Miss Elizabeth Lyon in October, 1938. Mrs. Ann Wood, the Librarian's Secretary, resigned in September 1938. Miss Rachel G. Harris was appointed to this position in May 1939.

ACCESSIONS

The total amount expended for books, periodicals, and binding during the year 1938-39 was $42,655, as against $40,610 for the preceding year. Miss Ingersoll, Head of the Accessions Division, reports that the total number of items added was 15,682 as against 15,163 last year. Of these 10,700 were for the general library. The remainder, 4,982, went to special collections. The number of items purchased was 6,228. The gifts amounted to 3,880.

GIFTS

The names entered on our donors list number 822. It will be observed that the proportion of gifts among the accessions, 3,880 as against 6,228 purchased items is by no means insignificant. No one who uses the Cornell University Library and no one who has the Library's and the University's interests at heart, can fail to realize the debt of gratitude which is due to each and every personal donor, including many members of the Faculty of the University, and to the government agencies, domestic and foreign, to the learned societies, foundations, corporations and industrial plants, and particularly to the publishers or editors of periodicals, who with unflinching liberality have enriched our resources and aided students and mature scholars alike.

An unusual event in the history of the Library was the gift from the French Government, through its Minister of Foreign Affairs, of approximately 300 volumes of French books (literature, arts, history, and science) amounting in value to 10,000 francs.

A generous subsidy of $3,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation, extending over several years, is intended to strengthen our unusual collection of books about China in European languages, donated and endowed by the late Charles W. Wason. The Rockefeller grant is to be used for the purchase of books in Chinese. This year $500 were expended for approximately 2,660 Chinese volumes.

Among the personal donors certain old friends have maintained their generous attitude of former years. Mr. Victor Emanuel has repeatedly purchased rare and valuable items for the Wordsworth Collection. Mr. and Mrs. William F. E. Gurley of Chicago have continued their gifts of books (303 items) chiefly, though not exclusively, Shakespeareana and the drama. These two friends and Mr. Elmer M. Johnson of Ithaca have also made gifts in cash. Professor Morris Bishop presented the sum of $100 and donated numerous books. Dr. N. M. Crouse of Ithaca has added to his former gifts of books relating to the Spanish Civil War. Mrs. Louise F. Peirce of Ithaca donated the Roman 1782-1797 edition of Tiraboschi's "Storia della Letteratura Italiana," and a large manuscript work by the Conte Oratio d'Elci, "Relazione della Corte di Roma" (1701).

The Italian Government, through its Provveditore dello Stato presented us with a full set of the well-indexed catalogues of Italian government publications and of publications subsidized by the government. From Mr. Frederick J. Nettlefold of London, England came the fourth volume of the splendid catalogue of his collection of paintings and drawings. The Corporation of the City of London, England sent us the edition by A. H. Thomas and I. D. Thornley of "The Great Chronicle of London."

Mr. Carter Kingsley, '96, of Bath, N. Y. has been unremitting in his efforts to increase our book holdings. The Rev. Canon V. Leroquais of Paris presented a copy of his publication, "Un Livre d'Heures de Jean sans Peur." From the Pierpont Morgan Library we received Capart and Gardiner's edition and facsimile of "Le Papyrus Leopold II . . . et le Papyrus Amherst." Mr. Arthur W. Du Bois of Hallstead, Pa. donated a miscellaneous collection of 72 volumes mostly in German. Mr. William H. Morgan of Alliance, Ohio presented us with 305 volumes of books and journals in the field of engineering.

OTTO KINKELDEY,
Librarian.
